Graphics I

A certain image contains a number $Q$ of differently coloured pixels. There are not enough different pixel values available to represent these and so a method of approximation is needed.

Describe an approach and comment on its performance. [15+5 marks]