

Programming Language Evolution 2014

Discussion

Should it become the norm to package refactoring tools with new version of languages?

How do we encourage the adoption of new features?

What can the community do to evaluate changes in the language?

How much can a language change before we call it a new version? a new language?