

THAINIG MO RIGH SA AIR TIR AM MUIDEART.

My King Has Landed in Muidart.

Composed by

John Mac Intyre.

1745.

The sheet music consists of ten staves of musical notation for a single instrument, likely a fife or flute. The music is in common time (indicated by '2/4') and is divided into two sections: the first section ends with a repeat sign and a 'Siubhal' instruction, and the second section begins with a new key signature. The lyrics are written below the first staff:

Thainig mo Righ sa air tir am Muideart, Righ na'n gael Tear - lach Stuart

Below the second section, the word 'Siubhal.' is written above the staff.

Dublachadh an t Siubhal.
