1994 Paper 4 Question 6

Data Structures and Algorithms

Explain how it is possible to construct red/black search trees, using one extra bit per node, so that the trees remain reasonably balanced. [13 marks]

How out of balance can your tree get and what are the worst case costs for adding a new item and finding an existing one? [7 marks]