1994 Paper 9 Question 3

Distributed Systems

A certain university proposed a design for a workstation with hardware-enforced protection of the system software. Trusted software could then be run on the workstation.

Discuss the advisability of this approach to workstation design.   [20 marks]