

1998 Paper 1 Question 4

Operating Systems

Typical memory architectures combine both paging and segmentation for the management of virtual memory. Contrast the two approaches with regard to their support for dynamic memory allocation, efficiency of memory use, support for code/data sharing, and data protection. [10 marks]