VLSI Design

Sketch a transistor-level design and give a brief description of the method of operation for each of the following memory cells:

(a) a dual-ported, static memory cell
(b) a dynamic memory cell using standard MOS logic
(c) a dynamic memory cell for dense memory

Explain the comparative merits of the three designs and explain where they might be used.